CROWD IS LIGHT AT BIG FAIR

Thousands Kept Away by the Downpour of Rain Today

FINE RACING PROGRAM

Was Enjoyed by Fair-Sized Crowd Yesterday—Friday Will Be the Record Day for Attendance.

On account of the rain of Thursday morning and afternoon officials in charge found it necessary to declare off all racing events on the program for the afternoon. Even the unfinished race left over from Wednesday could not be concluded because of the rain.

When the announcement was made, the crowd thinned out and most of the people left immediately for the cars.

Announcement was made that the races scheduled for Friday would be pulled off, in addition to one or two extra events if possible.

Despite the general agreement that this is the best annual fair in several years' history of the Licking County Agricultural society, in point of exhibits, attendance Wednesday fell off to the surprising extent of 3,000, in comparison with that of Wednesday last year. Here are the figures:

Yesterday—1,262 tickets sold.

Wednesday, 1912—4,306 tickets sold.

Arrivals from the country for Thursday were reported slow during the forenoon, but Secretary Farmer was hopeful that the attendance would pick up during the afternoon, and that Friday would make up the difference shown between this year and last in the first two days' attendance.

It was given as a reason for the falling off in tickets Wednesday, that threatening appearance of the sky in the early morning cut down the number of admissions. This might also apply to Thursday, since the morning was cloudy, following a heavy rain about 6 o'clock and another soaking one at noon.

The Clay Lick Cornet band played on board city cars and was taken around the town before starting for the fair grounds.

Fair officials kept up courage in the hope that early visitors, though comparatively few, would spread the news of the excellent exhibits and get the crowd for the remaining days.

The first day's receipts at the county fair amounted to $83. Secretary Farmer says this is almost double the first day's receipts last year.

Some people are under the impression that the admission to the fair has been raised to fifty cents. This is a mistake. The admission to the same as usual, twenty-five cents.

Fair visitors Thursday were given an opportunity of seeing Newark's Old Guard in uniform. The veterans, escorted by their wife and drum corps, marched to Fourth and West Main streets shortly before noon, and taking a special car planned to spend the day at the fair.

Friday, the last day of the fair, and usually the big day, probably will witness close to a record attendance. This is usually the day Newark people turn out to view the exhibits. The Buckeye Band will furnish music and the race program, with other attractions, promises plenty of entertainment as a wind-up to the four days' festivity.

In spite of the weather, which had put the track in bad condition and frightened many harness race lovers out of the notion of attending the opening program of the Licking county fair races Wednesday afternoon were good. The track was heavy, in fact in spots the footing was exceedingly hazardous and the horses were kept away from the soft spots. But the drivers put their speeders to their best efforts and some interesting racing was the result.

The afternoon's sport saw two of the events brought to a conclusion but the third race was unfinished, four heats finding five horses still ready to contest for another heat and the announcement was made that this race would be finished Thursday at 12:30 o'clock. The drivers could not agree to finish the event Tuesday and without such agreement the officials were powerless.

Let Newark Do Its Part

Two hundred million dollars a year are going up in smoke. Eighty per cent of the fires are preventable! Fire Prevention day comes Thursday, October 9. Remove rubbish from your premises, especially from cellars and garrets, improve defective electric wiring, take out all rubber hose gas connections and swinging gas jets, place metal protection under stoves and inspect all flues and fire places.

Buckeye Band Concert At "Made In Newark" Show Arcade Tonight

There was scarcely room to "get by" in the Arcade Wednesday night. High and mighty rubbed shoulders with low and weakly in the jostling throng of Newarkites and out of town visitors attracted here by the fair, all eager to get a peep at every offering on display in the "Made in Newark" show.

From Third to Fourth in the Arcade, and from Church to Main in the Arcade Annex, there was a constant stream of sight-seers moving along, stopping here and there to admire the various unique exhibits that especially attracted attention.

The fact that seemed to most impress visitors as indicated by overheard comments, was the extensive diversified lines of endeavor represented in the display. It would seem from the remarks of persons who visited the Arcade stores during their open hours Wednesday night, and, in fact, since the show started, that never before has there been afforded such an opportunity for Newark people themselves to see the extent of the manufacturing, mercantile and professional pursuits represented in their city.

Not only the extent of the manufacturing interests of Newark have brought comment, but the quality of it was augmented by the presence of hundreds of country people attracted here for the fair. The afternoon crowd was particularly large, and enthusiastic in its admiration of the progressive spirit responsible for the "Made in Newark" show.

The Arcade merchants' committee Thursday announced an additional attraction—the Buckeye band. Members of this popular Newark musical organization will endeavor to prove that music "made in Newark" is just as good if not a little better than that made elsewhere. The band will play all Thursday evening, part of the time in the east balcony and part in the west balcony of the Arcade. A program of the latest popular hits will be given during the evening.

"Ami," the $10,000 doll, has been about the biggest single attraction in the show, so far. He is a real puzzle. As the figure stood in the window of the A. L. Norton store Wednesday night, a number of small-sized bets were offered on whether he was animate or inanimate. Two men were seen making their way to the Norton basement with the avowed intention of "shutting off the current." Meanwhile

The Buckeye Band, 19 pieces, will play at the made in Newark show this evening in the Arcade.

To date 65 different exhibitors have displays in the made in Newark show. Additional exhibits are being shown every day.

Nearly every factory in town is represented in the Made in Newark show.

The Made in Newark show which ends Saturday night demonstrates the fact that Newark is a real factory town with a great diversity of manufactured products.

Free Licking Creamery ice cream cones will be given away this evening at Norton's.

"Ami," the wonderful automaton will be seen in the Arcade again tonight, tomorrow and Saturday.

Everything is free at the Made in Newark show all this week.

the wares marketed, and nicety of arrangement of the various displays have been matters of constant note.

When it is remembered that the available space is insufficient to accommodate displays of some of the larger machines manufactured here, the average observer of the show finds himself grappling with the problem: "How many distinctive business enterprises are actually in operation, or represented, in Newark?"

One prominent merchant of a neighboring town, after going through the exhibits of the "Made in Newark" show, remarked that if prizes were to be awarded on the merits of the respective exhibits, as in cities where the annual fall style show is now a feature of mercantile progress, judges surely would have a puzzling time deciding which display should receive the first prize and which the honorable mention.

Thursday's crowds were almost as great as those of Wednesday night, since the regular gathering of visitors

"Ami" continued amusing the crowd.

"Make him smile," asked one spectator, "what's the use tryin' to make an automaton smile?" "Ami" and "Izzy" have proven unanswerable questions to date. Thursday night the figure will occupy the Norton window, and Friday and Saturday he will be stationed in the Stewart & Alward window.

A pipe organ is one of the "Made in Newark" novelties to be added to the show for Thursday evening. This instrument was made by a Newark youth who has been asked to play several selections when the organ is installed.

The Reed Wire Cloth company added to its display, Thursday, a set of highly valuable diamond dies, used in the manufacture of wire cloth. These dies are imported and are set with costly diamonds necessary to the proper drawing of the fine strands of wire.

Uncle Sam Takes a Hand In the Dynamite Prosecution; Two Arrested In Conspiracy

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Oct. 2.—George E. Davis, alias George O'Donnell, was arrested by a United States marshal here today on a charge of blowing up with dynamite a New Haven railroad bridge at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 30, 1911.

Davis is also charged with having conspired with the McNamara brothers, Frank M. Ryan and other officers of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers union to wreck the Mt. Vernon and other bridges.

The marshal says Davis has confessed.

ACCOMPLICE ARRESTED.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers was arrested here today by a deputy United States marshal on a charge of conspiracy.

Jones, it is said, is implicated in the confession of George E. Davis, who was arrested in New York today.

Jones was arraigned in federal court and his bond fixed at $10,000. He had not been able to furnish it early this afternoon.

Davis was arraigned before a United States commissioner, waived examination and consented to go to Indianapolis where he is under indictment for transporting explosives. In his confession, it is alleged Davis has implicated union officials in the Mt. Vernon explosion and other explosions.

CENTRALIZATION OF SCHOOLS HAS UNCLESAM'S FAVOR

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Oct. 2.—The old-fashioned one-room schoolhouse of the country crossroads, within whose walls many of the country's most illustrious men received the rudiments of their education, would be entirely a thing of the past, if the United States bureau of education has its way. Its place will be taken by the centralized school, as recommended in a bulletin just issued by the bureau, wherever this change can be made without too great expense and without breaking up or disintegrating existing communities.

It should be done, says the bureau. There is a constant improvement in the facilities offered by the one-room rural school, particularly in relating school work to the farm needs, it is reported, but fewer and better schools, with transportation furnished to pupils living at a distance, is the recommendation.

Chess Player Goes to Post of Chancellor

New York, Oct. 2.—J. R. Capablanca, the Cuban chess champion, left New York today on the steamship Kaiserin Augusta Victoria. He will go via London and Paris to St. Petersburg to fill his post as chancellor to the Cuban consulate there. On his way from London to St. Petersburg he will meet some of the chess masters who are to participate in the International chess congress at Havana.

TEXAS IS VISITED BY FLOOD

Water Covers Streets of San Antonio to Depth of Six Feet

UTILITIES ARE SHUT OFF

And Damage Will Reach Hundreds of Thousands—Terrific Storm Strikes New York City Killing Two.

(Associated Press Telegram)

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 2.—With the San Antonio river out of banks and overflowing the downtown districts of this city to a depth, in some places, of five or six feet, business in San Antonio was demoralized, this morning. The damage probably will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Street car service, telephone service and the electric light plant are out of commission. Houses in the low-lying districts were flooded and several small buildings on the river banks were washed away. So far as known no lives were lost.

TRAFFIC SUSPENDED.

(Associated Press Telegram)

San Marcos, Texas, Oct. 2.—Flood damage totalling at least $250,000 has resulted in this section during the past 24 hours, from an unprecedented stage in the San Marcos and Blanco rivers, which now form a large lake. Several costly steel bridges have collapsed. Railroad traffic is practically suspended.

MOVING FAMILIES.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 2.—Lake Charles citizens today did not know whether to expect a rise or fall of the water that has flooded this city and a large portion of southwest Louisiana for several days. Reports from upriver points were that rain had fallen in many places and that the river was rising rapidly. Some of the flood water, however, has found an outlet to a low prairie country.

The tracks of the Southern Pacific, the only railroad operating trains into the city, were over a foot under water today. Rescue parties were sent out from here to remove to high ground many persons marooned in farm houses east of the city, where water has covered the land from four to 10 feet deep. Much live stock has been drowned. Crops have been a total loss in some instances and sawmill owners have lost thousands of dollars' worth of logs that have floated out to the gulf.

STORM STRIKES THE EAST AND TWO ARE KILLED

New York, Oct. 2.—A rainstorm that reached almost cloudburst proportion descended on New York last evening, establishing a record precipitation that flooded streets, tied up the subway, hampered surface and elevated traffic in city and suburbs for several hours and caused property loss that can scarcely be estimated.

Two persons were killed and several injured. Four men were buried in a sewer cave-in, but were rescued. Lightning played above the city and struck an elevated train and several buildings, setting fires which the deluge extinguished. Incoming trains from all directions were delayed, as tunnels resembled rivers within canyons.

Within the city the traffic congestion was such that the resources of the transit companies and the ability of the police to handle the crowds were severely taxed. Brooklyn bridges saw the greatest traffic rush in their history. It was late last night before the transportation officials announced the resumption of normal traffic.

There was little wind here, but along the New Jersey coast there was a gale blowing for miles an hour. Rain swelled the Passaic River nearly to its previous high water mark.

In New York the weather bureau established in 1911, recorded a new figure in amount of rainfall for two hours when 1.2 inches descended. Within approximately 12 hours ending about 6 o'clock last night, 4.86 inches fell.

Thomas H. Walsh, a train dispatcher, bossing a pumping gang in the subway, slipped and fell on the third rail and was killed. The other victim during the storm was Patrolman Hugh Chase of Jersey City, electrocuted at his street call box, which had become charged after wires became crossed.

The torrent of rain broke the roof of a drug store in Broadway near Fifth street and washed everything movable into the street. The damage at this point was estimated at $15,000.

Girls Ask Government to Charge No Postage for Christmas Gifts to Poor

OLIVE MAY WILSON ANNA V. EVANS

Miss Olive Wilson and Miss Anna Evans have begun a campaign in Washington to have Uncle Sam charge no postage on Christmas gifts to poor children. They argue that the money expended for postage might go into gifts and thus hundreds of thousands of dollars would be added to the value of gifts received by the poor.

Sulzer Trial Is Postponed Until Monday Afternoon; Court Disposes of Motions

(Associated Press Telegram)

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Adjournment until Monday afternoon was taken in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer today after a few motions made by counsel for the defense had been disposed of.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—There was no morning session of the Sulzer impeachment trial today and this gave everybody connected with the case, except the governor's attorneys, a chance to discuss and speculate on his probable defense.

The final plans of the Sulzer attorneys were drawn in a long conference with the governor at the "peoples house" this morning. Following out their rule—which they have stood by firmly—they made no statements.

It was believed that their first step would be to ask for a ruling from the court on two things—the constitutionality of articles one, two and six, and whether the application to private uses of funds given without restriction constituted larceny. If the court ruled favorably to the defense on the first of these questions, it was generally admitted the case practically would be at an end. Most of the board of managers case was built on these three articles. The question of larceny also was a big one, for, with a few exceptions, contributors whose gifts were not accounted for in the governor's campaign statement state that they had not specified what use the governor should make of the money they gave him.

The sudden closing of the case of the board of managers yesterday came as a surprise to the defense and found them unprepared for opening their case.

Doubt was expressed if the governor's side of the case would get under way until next week. At all events it was planned to ask for an adjournment until Monday.

Fire Prevention Day In Newark Oct. 9th

October 9th will be Fire Prevention day in Newark.

Governor Cox and governors of practically all the other states have issued proclamations fixing Thursday, Oct. 9, as fire prevention day that date being the anniversary of the great Chicago fire.

The way to observe Fire Prevention day is to remove all rubbish from cellars, garret, stores and dwellings, remove all rubber hose gas connections, inspect all chimney flues—in short clean and inspect all premises.

October 9 was observed by twenty western states last year, with excellent results both as regards educational value and the directly practical benefits secured by the "clean-up" day movement. Much better results can be secured this year because of last year's experience and the greater public interest in the subject. The fire waste in the United States and Canada last year was $225,320,900. So far this year it is only $12,130,000, less, and June, July and August have exceeded the same months of last year by $12,302,950. The Federal authorities, the state fire marshals and the local firemen all agree that at least 75 per cent of this was easily preventable by the exercise of ordinary care and precaution. It is to develop a sense of individual and municipal responsibility for this preventable fire waste that this special observance of Fire Prevention Day, backed by the endorsement of Governor Cox is intended.

VISIT TO OFFICE OF EQUITY ASSO. IS DESCRIBED

(Associated Press Telegram)

Cleveland, O., Oct. 2.—A minute description of the alleged burglary visit of C. C. Meekison and J. D. Carcoul to the offices of the Equity Association on the night of August 2 was detailed at this morning's session of the trial of the Henry county auditor and the Akron politician.

F. M. Cromer, a detective employed by the Equity Association, made the description. He was easily the star witness put on the stand by the prosecution today.

The state suffered a severe disappointment in the testimony of Arthur Marcus, a lock maker, Mar. 20, from his testimony before the grand jury had been expected to identify Meekison as a man who came to him to obtain a key to unlock the door of the Equity Association. Placed on the stand today, however, he said that he could not identify Meekison. He could only remember a "tall gentleman" who came to him and asked if he could make a key for a certain lock. Marcus said that he replied that he could not, unless the "tall gentleman" could "lead me to it." He testified that the "tall gentleman" departed without saying more.

Marcus had followed C. O. Smith, member of the Ashtabula board of review, on the stand, Smith this morning completing the testimony he began yesterday.

During his examination of Smith, W. H. Boyd, attorney for the defense brought out the fact that Meekison had suspected J. H. Eckert of Toledo of "double crossing" him. Eckert is the man who yesterday testified that Meekison offered him $1,000 to get a man into the Equity offices. Eckert is alleged to have been the man who furnished Meekison, Carcoul and a third party the key with which to enter the offices.

Smith said that he had discussed with Meekison and Carcoul before they entered the Lader-News building on the night of August 2, the fact that the key furnished Meekison through Eckert probably was a "phony" and would not unlock the door.

FRENCHMAN HAS REMARKABLE NEW RIFLE INVENTION

(Associated Press Telegram)

Paris, Oct. 2.—An obscure inventor named Sava Rozoz-a has just demonstrated his invention discoveries, which promise to revolutionize rifle firing. His notion consists of a split cartridge and double inflammable bullet primarily designed for the destruction of airships. In his experiments, Rozoz-a used an old gun built in 1870. Although his cartridge was filled with powder, spectators were astonished to see neither smoke, flash nor recoil as he fired. The bullet carried 1200 metres, but it is calculated that with a modern rifle it would have carried 3,000 metres.

Rozoz-a also claims to have invented a cannon costing only $300 francs, or about $60, easily carried by two men, which can throw a shell 7,000 metres. Another invention which he has brought forward is a shrapnel shell which scatters its contents along the level of the ground, moving all in its path instead of dropping from above.

PLANS FOR THE SERIES ARRANGED

First Game of World's Baseball Series to Be Played Oct. 7

NO MAIL ORDER TICKETS

General Admission Price $3 and Each Purchaser Must Buy for Three Games—Betting Favors the Home Team.

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Oct. 2.—Every one of the multitude of details of the campaign of 1913 between the New York Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans for the world's baseball championship has been prearranged. Here are the chief plans:

Time, October 7 and daily thereafter, except Sunday, until one club shall have won four games.

Place, Polo Grounds, New York; Shibe Park, Philadelphia.

First game to be played in New York, the games thereafter to alternate between Philadelphia and New York.

Tie games to be played off the next day in the other city from that in which the tie occurred. Thus, if the first game in New York were to result in a tie the game would be played off in Philadelphia the next day, October 8.

Sale of tickets to be conducted under the auspices of the two clubs concerned. Unreserved seats will be sold at the Polo Grounds and Shibe Park on the day of the game; reserved seats must be purchased for three games, whether bought in New York or Philadelphia, and if three games are not played the proportionate amount of the purchase price will be refunded. No mail orders will be accepted for reserved seats.

Seating arrangements, Polo Grounds, 23,000 reserved seats, 15,000 in bleachers; Shibe Park, grand stand and bleachers, 21,000, standing room for about 3,000 more. Neither club will be permitted to erect extra stands on the field. No spectators will be allowed to overflow on the field and no ground rules will be made.

Time of games, two o'clock. Umpires for the series, William Klem and Charles Rigler of the National league; Thomas Connolly and John J. Egan of the American league.

Number of eligible players, New York—Burns, Cooper, Crandall, Doyle, Demaree, Fletcher, Fromme, Grant, Herzog, Hartley, Marquard, Wilkie, Mathewson, Murray, Meyers, McLean, Merkle, Robinson, McCormick, Shafer, Snodgrass, Thorpe, Tesreau, Wilson, Schupp; Philadelphia—Schang, Lapp, Thomas, Bender, Plank, Combs, Houck, Brown, Shaver, Penneck, Bush, Wyckoff, McInnis, Collins, Barry, Baker, Or, Davis, Lavan, Oldring, Strunk, E. Murphy, D. Murphy, Walsh, Daley.

In the event of a seventh game being necessary the city for holding it will be determined by the toss of a coin. In case a game is postponed on account of rain or if for some other cause a legal game is not played the teams will remain in the city where the postponement occurred until a legal game is played. This does not, of course, apply to tie games.

According to the rules governing the world's series the National commission will receive 10 per cent of the gate receipts of each and every game. The players of the two teams.

COUNTY FAIR WILL GO OVER UNTIL SATURDAY

By unanimous vote, late Thursday the Licking County Agricultural society agreed to continue the fair over Saturday. The race program set for Thursday will be carried out Friday, and Friday's program will be given Saturday, weather permitting. The hold-over was agreed upon because of the inclement weather that has prevailed.

BET ON SURE THING; MONEY DISAPPEARS

(Associated Press Telegram)

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—William J. Young and wife of Brandon, Manitoba, today appealed to the police here to search for two men who had swindled them out of $5,000 which Young and his wife had bet on a "sure thing" horse race.

Plank and Marquard

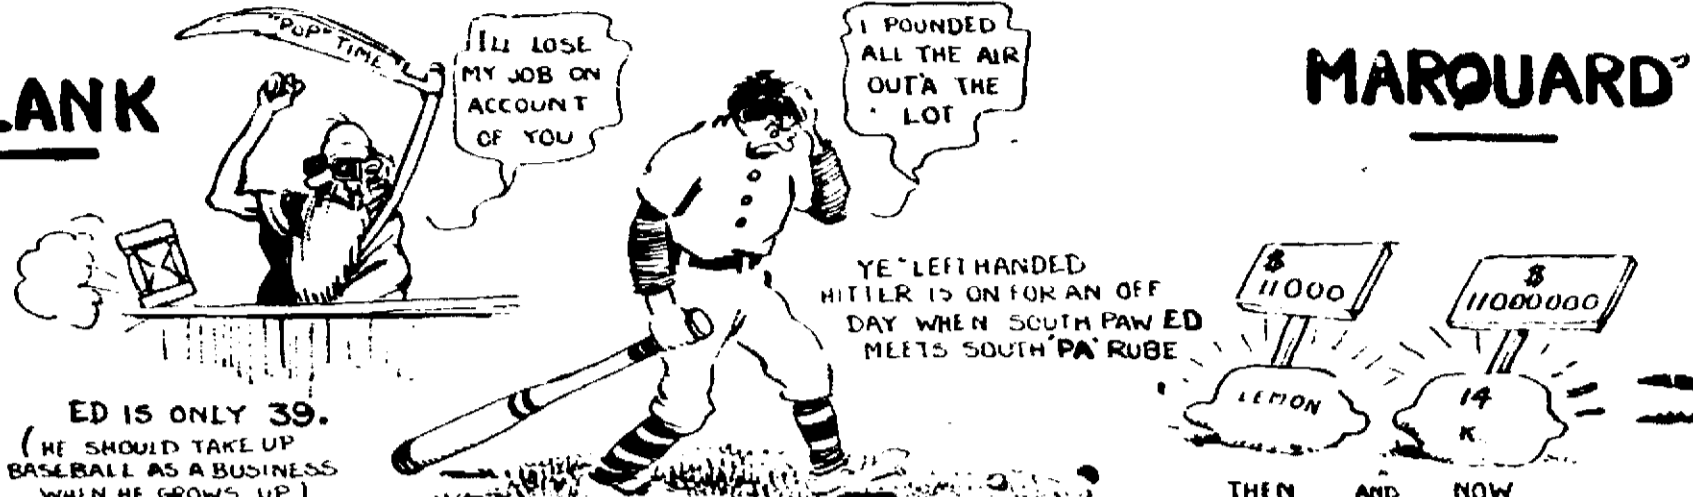

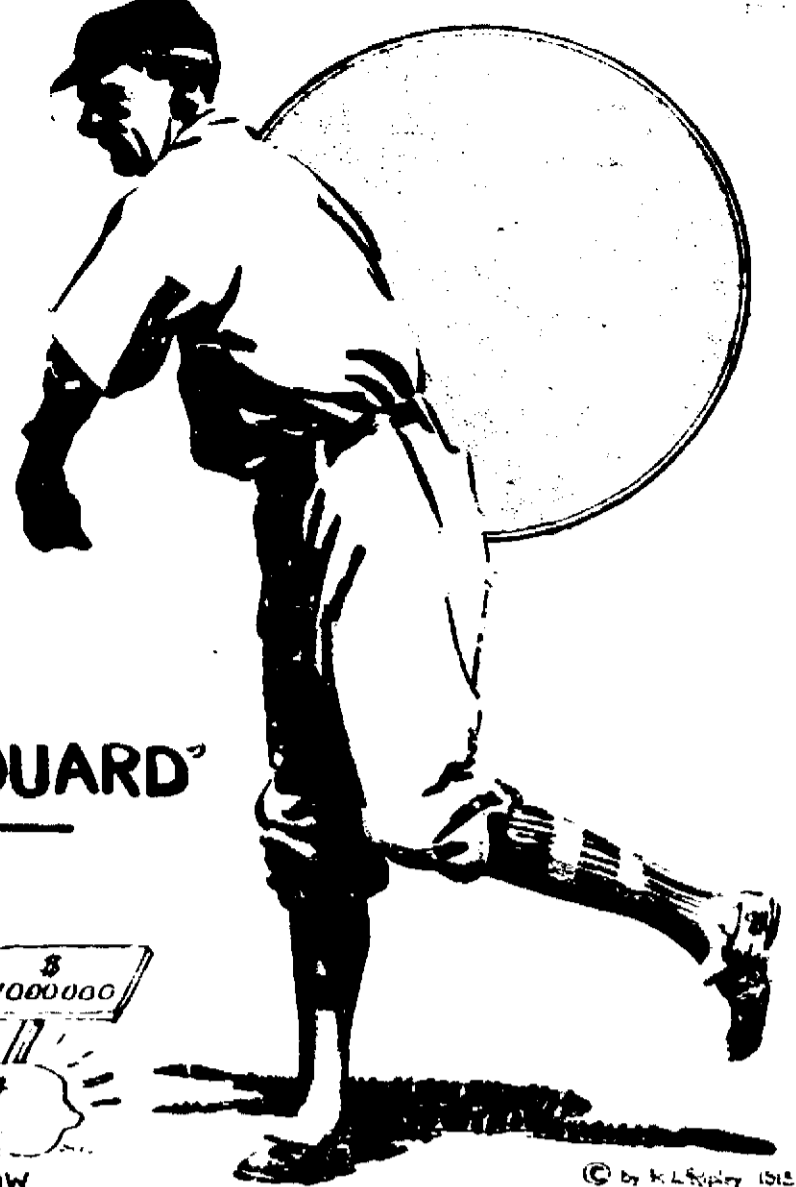

Plank is the best southpaw pitcher in the American League. Marquard is the ranking left-hander of the National organization. The fans, the best of both leagues, are sitting up nights in frantic anticipation of the day whenever the twain shall meet.

For that coming October afternoon appears a bit hazy in our imagination, hazy with flying fur as we see those valiant southern paws slashing round and back and forth in the sunlight.

It will be a battle of youngster against veteran, the long against the short, youth against experience.

On one side we see Eddie Plank, a "grand old man"—veteran of Gettysburg and some thirty-eight years of age—soon to be thirty-nine, with thirteen consecutive successful seasons with the Athletics, toiling silently and seriously. On the other side dazzles "Rube," the brilliant—some fourteen years younger in age and some eight years younger in experience, oftentimes erratic, but always brilliant, toiling determinedly, yet smilingly, as he unwraps that pliant arm from around his wry neck and abruptly shoots him across.

They met once before two years ago and the veteran won. But this time, well, we shall see, but it does look like a big day for we fans—and a bum day for ye left-handed hitters.

peting clubs will take 60 per cent of the remaining 50 per cent of the first four games, the amount to be divided on a basis of 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers. The remaining 40 per cent of the 50 per cent goes to the club owners. Ninety per cent of the gate receipts of each and every game after the first four becomes the property of the stockholders of the two contesting clubs.

Betting on the outcome of the world's series started at 10 to 6. It mattered not whether the odds were wanted on Philadelphia or New York, 10 to 6 were the figures. That is if the better happened to be in Philadelphia when the National Commission announced the date for the opening game, there was money to place on the Athletics at 10 to 6 if he happened to be in New York the odds were 10 to 6 that the Giants would win.

Hence the unusual situation prevailed that bettors in both cities were willing to give odds on their home teams. This situation obtained for several days until Larry Doyle, captain of the Giants, was injured in an automobile accident and center fielder Snodgrass strained a tendon in his leg. Reports that Doyle and Snodgrass might be unable to play in the series were instantly reflected and bettors in New York were unwilling to risk more than even money on their team in the face of these reports.

By far the greatest amount of money placed in the first few days after the opening date was announced was wagered in so-called freak bets. There was no end of these. Reports from Chicago were that a bet could Even money on the Giants and Athletics.

Two to one that Bender does not win one game.

Four to one that Bender does not win two games.

Seven to five that Mathewson does not win one game.

Three to one that Mathewson does not win two games.

Twenty-five to one that the series goes over four games.

Two to one that the series does not go seven games.

One hundred to one that the Giants do not win four straight.

One hundred to one that the Athletics do not win four straight.

In New York one bet was recorded at odds of four to five, that Mathewson would pitch the first game. Another bet was reported at even money that Demaree would win his first game. A third bet was that the series would go six games. This bet was also at even money. One Giant enthusiast offered one to four that the Giants would win the first three games but found no takers.

Infinite were the variations on which the early betters laid their money. One man bet even money that the Athletics would make more runs during the total games than the Giants would. Another offered even money that the Athletics would lead in hitting.

In both New York and Philadelphia the usual plaint was heard that plenty of money was being offered on the home team without takers.

Auditorium Pictures.

The wonderful Kinemacolor pictures at the Auditorium last night created something of a sensation with the large audiences that saw them and many were the comments made as to their beautiful natural colorings. Kinemacolor means the photography of colors in their natural stage. "The Weaker Vessel" was the title of the picture projected and it was in three most gripping dramatic reels, acted by French Pathe company. The marvelous Kinemacolor will be shown again tonight, in conjunction with several other features that will make the Auditorium's show one of the most interesting in the motion picture line.

"Broadway Jones."

The Auditorium will have on Friday as its next attraction Geo. M. Cohan's latest play "Broadway Jones." It is a comedy devoid of slang, as that vernacular is popularly defined, yet it contains enough smart and breezy chatter to keep the four acts in which it is written whizzing along at a speed pace that keeps it abreast of the stride that Cohan sets for all his brain children, and in this case perhaps a stride or two ahead.

The play starts at a high speed after a very brief scene that simply serves to show "Broadway Jones," the hero of the work, as some sport. When the play opens, "Broadway" is arriving home very late in a condition one is not likely to arrive at very early. The youth is supposed to be very rich, but the morning after the night before discloses the fact that he has run through his money, and has engaged himself to a rich old woman in order to get ready cash to pay his debts. His friends try to break off the match but fail, and the announcement of the engagement is allowed to stand. Then Jones gets word that his uncle has died and left him a big property in the shape of a chewing gum factory, and the real action of the play begins. The scenes that follow show how the young fellow is brought around from a desire to sell his new property for whatever it will bring, to an earnest determination to keep it for the good of the little Connecticut town of which it is the sole industrial enterprise and "Broadway Jones," money burner and man about town, becomes Jackson Jones, factory owner and a leading man in his community. The development of the play is accomplished at high tension and the story is told in the rapid fire manner that characterizes all of Geo. M. Cohan's plays.

"Within the Law."

It is a rare enough thing nowadays to find a play which has received the universal indorsement of dramatic critics everywhere. It is unprecedented to hear of a play that has received not only the endorsement of the men whose business it is to consider a play from a technical viewpoint, but from the prominent laymen who judge a play only by the personal appeal which it makes to them. It is therefore of increased interest to learn that we are soon to see "Within the Law," a play by Bayard Veiller, which has been commended publicly by such eminent thinkers as Woodrow Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. C. H. Parkhurst, the Bishop of Wyoming, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, and which has just concluded a run of more than a year at the Eltinge Theatre, New York City. Manager Hamilton has secured this remarkable play, which deals with present day conditions in the populace and which will be seen at the Auditorium Theatre on Saturday matinee and night.

"The Price She Paid."

"The Price She Paid," will be the attraction at the Auditorium Monday, October 6.

Love rules the world. The truth of this is made clear in "The Price She Paid," where love is a dominant factor—outwitting the cunning of an unscrupulous Englishman, who is on the eve of entrapping a sweet American girl simply because a rich aunt has ambitions for her. But this is only one of the impelling stories entwined in this powerful play of love, sacrifice and devotion. The deeper plot lies in fate's handling of Mary—and of Comrade Jim—from Colorado.

EXPECT EARLY END TO PROSECUTIONS BY EQUITY ASSOCIATION

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—At the rate in which the taking of testimony proceeded yesterday, it is expected that the trial of C. C. Meekison of Napoleon, Henry county auditor, and J. D. Cargould, Akron politician, will be concluded within two days. They should know by Saturday, then, whether the charges against them of attempted burglary of the Ohio Equity association offices here to obtain possession of Warnes and Kilpatrick tax law referendum petitions have been upheld.

Spectators at yesterday's trial regarded the testimony of C. O. Smith, member of the Ashtabula board of review, as a trump card for the prosecution. The evidence given by Smith was unexpected and surprising.

When court reopened today Smith was scheduled to take the stand to finish his story of the alleged plot between Meekison, Cargould and another man, also of Akron, O. who, he says, tried to enter the Equity Association's office on the night of August 2 to get the petitions. The testimony of Charles T. Preston, Cuyahoga county auditor, and J. H. Shaffran, a former member of the board of review, is expected to be sensational. They had names were mentioned repeatedly. It is said, in evidence secured for the use of the state by the means of a telephonic device.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1911 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered for three months, and was unable to move. I tried every remedy, but each failed. At last I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I will send you a copy of the book "The Home Cure of Rheumatism" for one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you send me the book. Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

PARR—McCOY.
A quiet yet impressive wedding occurred Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Pauline McCoy, 287 South Williams street, when her daughter, Mary E., was united in marriage to Homer S. Parr of Franklin's addition. The wedding march was sending forth its sweet strains as the young couple came into the parlor, attended by Oliver Parr, brother of the groom, and Miss Georgia McCoy, sister of the bride. The ring ceremony was used. Rev. M. A. Lamp of the Pine street church officiated.

After congratulations all were invited into the dining room where a wedding dinner was served. The "belling party" appeared also, and enjoyed their "treat."

The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. McCoy, and wore a beautiful gown of embroidered voile. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr, well-to-do farmers, with a promising future before him. About twenty-five of the immediate friends attended the wedding.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman of West Locust street will go to Logan, O. Friday, to be present at a four o'clock dinner given by Senator and Mrs. J. B. Dollison, whose guests of honor will be Governor Cox and Attorney General Hogan, who are the speakers of the day, at the opening of the new fair grounds at that place.

The chancel of the church was filled with a profusion of goldenrod, with which intermingled white rose buds. There were no attendants, and the bride entered the church with her father. Her gown was an exquisite creation of white crepe de chine with the full court train. The trimmings were of pearls and heavy lace. The full length veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and the bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Rev. H. O. Rowlands, pastor of the church, read the impressive wedding service. Just preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Arthur Taylor sang "Beloved 'Tis Morn."

A wedding breakfast was served at the home in West Church street where the color effect of gold and white was again used. The centerpiece of the bride's table was of white chrysanthemums while the place cards were miniature brides and grooms done in water colors by the bride's sister, Miss Florence Hershberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore had planned an extensive wedding trip, but owing to the illness of the bride's mother it

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

First Things

The first English law designed for the suppression of vagrancy and the punishment of vagabonds was put into effect on this date in the year 1530. Before that time the English "hobo" was left to the tender mercies of the local authorities, and there was no general law dealing with the crime of being without a home or visible means of support. Poverty drove thousands to the streets and highways in the early part of the sixteenth century. Under the law the vagrant was to be whipped, and then forced to take an oath to return to the place where he was born, or had last dwelt for three years. This statute did little good, and in 1535, it was supplemented with an act providing that a vagrant a second time convicted should have the upper part of his right ear cut off, and upon a third conviction should be put to death. In 1547 another law was passed, whereby a vagabond was to be branded with the letter "V" and be a slave for two years. If he escaped and was caught he was branded with an "S" and became a slave for life. In 1572 the law was further amended, providing whipping, jailing and boring of the ears as punishment for the first conviction, and death for the second.

THE FORWARD-LOOKING WOMAN VERSUS THE FIRESIDE WOMAN

By Barbara Boyd

Woman's Corking Up

"I am so glad I didn't live in the days when women were corked up," exclaimed the Forward-looking Woman, as she breezed into the living room where the Fireside Woman was reading.

"Do you mean shut up in prison?" asked the Fireside Woman, as she laid down her book with a longing glance at the page she was reading. "Women are put in prison today, if they do wrong."

"I'm not thinking of prison," replied the Forward-looking Woman, "though a woman in prison today has, in certain respects, more freedom than she did in the days when, though nominally at liberty, she was corked up. But I've just been to a dandy play written by a woman. Already it has run for a whole season and is the success of the year. And you," she said, picking up the book the other had laid down, "have been reading a best seller written by a woman. A hundred, two hundred years ago, could a woman have done these things? It makes me think of something George Eliot said in one of her books. 'There is no use in living, if you're to be corked up forever, and only drizzle out your mind on the sly, like a leaky barrel.' In the good old times, they certainly were corked up and had to dribble out their minds on the sly. Think how disgraceful it was for a woman to write, and how those who had the divine fire in them had to let it burn on the sly! Think how they had to fight to get an education, and how they were looked upon as freaks, if they knew Latin and higher mathematics! And all the ridicule and jibes and jeers were heaped upon the woman. To me, it shows the lack in man's mentality that he held these views. But nobody seemed to see this then. Thank goodness! they do now. But wouldn't it be awful to have a play or a book or a picture seething within you, and to have to dribble it out on the sly under a man's name, in order to let it out at all?"

"I guess George Eliot knew what she was writing about when she penned that sentence."

"It must have been hard," admitted the Fireside Woman. "But thank goodness, all that sort of thing is done away with now."

"Not all,—yet," replied the Forward-looking Woman. "It soon will be though. But not because of anything you have done," she laughed. "If all women were like you, we still would be corked up and dribbling out our minds out on the sly."

AS Labor Day rolls round each year the keynote of the celebration theme perhaps is the fact that the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow is following a dignified, honorable, commendable calling.

In no less august an assemblage than the Congress of the United States there are several score men who think the same way. Many of them are staunchly affiliated with labor unions and the issues for which they stand, but a surprisingly large number of our Representatives and Senators are proud to relate that at some time or other in their lives they were known as laboring men and not by the official titles they now bear.

Though no longer a member of Congress—he was until appointed last March to be the Secretary of the new Department of Labor in President Wilson's Cabinet—William B. Wilson stands pre-eminent as the copiest laboring man in the last administration.

He has been a worker all his life and has always fought valiantly to better labor conditions in this country. When but nine years of age he went to work in a coal mine in Pennsylvania. Two years later he was admitted to half-membership in the Mine Workers' Union.

Thirteen years ago he was made International Secretary-Treasurer of the United Mine Workers' of America—and held that position for eight years. Elected to the Sixtieth Congress, he served continuously until his appointment to the Cabinet.

From Chicago, Ill., comes Representative Frank Buchanan, who has been active in the organized labor movement for many years, and who previous to his election to Congress, was working at the structural iron trade as a foreman and inspector.

Well known in the field of organized labor, Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland, knows from bitter experience what it means to labor in certain lines. He began life as a coal miner at the amazing age of nine. He learned to read and write at Sunday school, and later began to read law, being admitted to the bar when twenty-three years old. But he pursued his occupation as a coal miner until the day he laid aside his pick for his green bag.

George W. Norris, the new Senator from Nebraska, knows well what it means to work with his hands. When he was but a small child his father died, and he, after the death of his only brother, was left the sole support of his mother. He worked out among the neighbors as a farm hand, and yet managed, during a portion of the winter months, to attend the district school, and later to educate himself for the law.

Representative Charles D. Carter, of Oklahoma, — seven — sixteen — thirteen — and Cherokee Indian — spent his early life as a cow-puncher on the Western frontier. Later, after completing his course in the Indian school, he earned his living as a clerk in a store.

While Albert Johnson, Representative from Washington, never punched cattle he did stick type—and when he was only fourteen years of age at that. He still retains his membership in the International Typographical Union and naturally, is keenly interested in the condition of the laboring man.

Champion Odd Job Member. Of the entire Congressional membership, no doubt, the man who has worked at more odd jobs than any other and who nearest, perhaps, to being a laborer in the strictest sense of the word is William H. Murray.

Representative from Oklahoma. He is better known as "Alfalfa Bill" Murray. He ran away from home when he was twelve years of age. During his adventurous career he punched cattle, chopped cordwood, worked in a brickyard and was a laborer on a farm. After that he became a newspaper reporter, then editor, and then took up and practiced law.

The record of Senator Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona, very nearly parallels that of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray. At all events, he truly knows what it is to earn his living by the sweat of his brow. He was a lumberjack. He earned his "three square and a place to sleep" as a cowboy. He clerked in a store. He carried a hod as a day laborer. Then he became a reporter, studied law, and so on up the ladder to his present high position.

There are laborers on the high seas as well as on land; and Senator George C. Perkins, of California, was one of the former when but thirteen years of age. When but sixteen years of age he made the trip, as a hand "before the mast" from Maine clear around the Horn to California. From the same State comes Representative John I. Nolan, who is not only an iron molder by trade, but is also exceedingly active in labor circles. Last year he was secretary of the San Francisco Labor Council, and has been identified as an officer with the International Molders' Union of North America for seven years.

Representative George J. Kindel, of Colorado, was working with his hands at the age of thirteen—and for the princely sum of one dollar and fifty cents a week. Three years later he decided there was more money in the world than that, so began a four years' apprenticeship in upholstery and mattress making. That completed, he took Horace Greeley's advice and went West, locating in Denver.

Earned Their Salt. Before Emmet Wilson, Representative from Florida, took up law and the good fortune and honors that rough physical labor. The fourth is Representative Francis O. Lindquist, who, after going through the third grade of the common schools, turned his youthful attention to odd jobs and later worked out as a day laborer.

Before Jacob H. Gallinger became United States Senator from New Hampshire, before he graduated in medicine, and before he earned for himself a common school and academic education, he learned and worked at the printer's trade. It was necessary, for James was one of a family of twelve children and had to shift for himself.

Carpenter To Congress. Robert G. Bremner, Representative from New Jersey, worked in New York as a carpenter and electrician before he went into newspaper work and thence into politics. Senator Albert B. Fall, who comes from New Mexico, was once mighty thankful for the opportunity to earn his living as a farm hand, a cow puncher, and later as a miner.

There are several of the representatives of the people of New York who have been on intimate terms with physical labor. Representative James P. Maher served an apprenticeship at the hatter's trade and then traveled around a bit as a journeyman hatter. When but thirty-four years of age he was elected president of the Danbury Hat Makers' Society, and only three years later was made national treasurer of the United Hatters of North America. Representative James H. O'Brien, of Brooklyn, N. Y., began his life work as a machinist.

From New York comes Representative Henry George, Jr., the son of his illustrious father. Before he mounted the ladder to journalism and politics he was employed in a printing shop at the typical printer's devil's age of sixteen years.

The State of Ohio boasts of two men at least who have a personal interest in the wage earner. They are respectively Representative Clement Brumbaugh, who, left an orphan at an early age, spent his youth as a farm hand, and Representative John A.

Key, who first learned the printer's trade, became a practical journeyman printer, and then, for six years, was a letter carrier in his native city.

There are four representatives from Pennsylvania whose sympathy for the tribulations of the laborer are keen indeed. John M. Morin went to work at an early age as a hand in a glass factory and later joined the vast army of toilers in the iron and steel mill. For a number of years he was a member of the Central Trades Council of Pittsburgh. Representative Robert E. Duffenderfer worked on a farm in his early life and later learned and worked at the trade of house painter.

John J. Casey, the representative from Wilkes-Barre, who since early manhood has taken an active interest in the affairs of trades-unions, worked in a coal breaker when but eight years of age.

Representative Andrew R. Brodbeck worked upon a farm as a mere lad, and later labored as an errand boy in a store and a hotel.

From the age of thirteen until he attained twenty-six full years, Representative Michael E. Burke, of Wisconsin, worked as a hired farm hand among neighbors, while William J. Cary, of the same State, finding himself left an orphan with five younger children to support, set out valiantly to make his way in the world as a messenger boy, later attaining the eminence of a telegraph operator.

John R. Farr, of Scranton, Pa., began his life work as a newsboy, then a printer, publisher, real estate agent, and finally a Congressman. Senator William Hughes, of New Jersey, was once a textile worker; while Representative James T. McDermott, of Illinois, once earned his living as a railroad telegrapher, as did also Representative Charles B. Smith before he went into journalism.

E. E. Roberts, the lone representative from Nevada, was once a metal miner.

James Manahan, the representative at large from Minnesota, had quite a spell of it as a farm hand in his younger days.

Tom Stout—which is not an abbreviation of the name—representative from Montana, remembers vividly a period about ten years ago when he worked in Billings, Mont., with a shovel, for $1.75 a day.

GAME WARDEN SPEAKS EXPLAINS WORKING OF HUNTING LICENSE

Working on the backs of hunters' licenses being issued by township clerks and by the clerk of courts have caused many hunters of Licking county to believe that the new game laws prohibit use of dogs in rabbit hunting. A letter from State Game Warden Speaks has scouted this theory.

"Rabbits can be killed with a gun only," appear on the backs of licenses. These words, it was thought, made the use of dogs prohibitive. The words are explained in the following answers to queries from the chief game warden.

Non-resident licenses are issued only by clerks of courts.

Township clerks and clerks of courts may issue resident licenses to any citizen of the United States who is a resident of Ohio, regardless of county or township lines.

Licenses may be issued to minors. If under 16 years of age minors must, while hunting, be accompanied by parents or other persons in loco parentis. Minors must have license to hunt.

Licenses must be procured before hunting, pursuing or killing with a gun, any wild bird or wild animal, except as provided in the exemption relating to land owners, tenants, managers and their children.

"With gun only," on the back of licenses is intended to emphasize the fact that rabbits may be killed with a gun only during the open season, November 15 to December 4, inclusive.

AUTO HEARSE ON LONG TRIP WITH CORPSE

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—Carrying in a Great Eagle ambulance the body of his friend, Michael Moran, a wealthy New Yorker who died of tuberculosis in San Francisco more than a month ago, W. A. Peck of Los Angeles, western sales agent for the Great Eagle Motor Hearse, arrived in Columbus last evening on his way to New York. The transcontinental funeral trip, which breaks all distance records known, is being made by Mr. Peck in fulfillment of a promise given his friend shortly before death.

Mr. Moran was an enthusiastic automobilist and, having made the transcontinental trip several times, desired that his dead body be taken to New York by motor hearse. Accompanying Mr. Peck on the long trip are R. H. Hambley of the firm of Hambley & Smith, undertakers, San Francisco, and B. F. Mayo, mechanic, of Moline, Ill.

Mr. Peck has been on the road 23 days, and his speedometer reading last night was 3860. He expects to arrive in New York Saturday morning.

The route traversed thus far by Mr. Peck, in the Great Eagle hearse, which is a Columbus product, was by way of Reno, Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, Des Moines, Davenport, Chicago, Indianapolis and La Fayette, Ind. He expects to complete the trip by way of Cleveland and Albany. The slowest day's run thus far was along the bed of Deep

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and thick with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we won't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 75 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time by morning the gray hair disappears but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifying, darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive, besides, it cures itching scalp and falling hair. BABY'S FACE ONE SORE WITH ECZEMA

Cried for Hours, Could Not Sleep.
Resinol Brought Rest and Cure.

Reading, Pa.—My baby girl had eczema for over six months. It was painful and itching, she could not sleep day or night, she would scratch till blood and water would run down her neck. Then I turned her so she cried for hours at a time. The right side of her face was one sore and scab.

I got the samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment on a Saturday morning, and put them on, and put them on again in the afternoon and in the evening before I put her to bed, and she went to sleep and slept till next morning. I thought I was in heaven the first night, and by Monday the eczema was dried up so that all the scabs fell off. Resinol Soap and Ointment cured my baby." (Signed) Mrs. Wm. M. Two views of hanging road at Linkers creek.

This remarkable picture, taken at the recent saving conference in Cleveland, illustrates what city engineers and road builders traveled from all over the country to see. It is a brick pavement on the country road, the side of a stream called Linkers creek, heretofore by flood of the supporting subsoil and concrete base. The pavement still holds up with sufficient strength to support an automobile. The overhanging shelf is eight feet long and eight feet in width. The conference was held in Cleveland because it is the center of 400 miles of such rural highways. As an object lesson in proper construction, the pictured roadway occupied a prominent place in the program. Much of the delegates' time was spent out of doors in studying actual demonstration of road construction.

DR. REICHEL SPEAKS HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Rev. Geo. V. Reichel, Ph.D., of Columbus, legislative and field secretary of the American Civic and Reform Union whose national headquarters are in Cleveland, speaks here next Sunday morning and evening. In the morning he will be at the Christian Union Church on Pine Street, and in the evening at the Central Church of Christ. The organization he represents is a federation of churches and civic societies for the purpose of suppressing intemperance, impurity, Sabbath-desecration and gambling, by means of legislation, law-enforcement, rescue work and education. It was this organization which was responsible for the recent removal from his office of “Golden Rule” Chief Kohler of Cleveland. It is especially active against the “white slave traffic,” and secured the recently enacted law against white slavery in this state.

REV. GEO. V. REICHEL.

Mr. J. H. Miller of this city is a trustee of this organization. Associated with him are such well known Ohio citizens as Jas. N. Gamble of Cincinnati; Judge Swartz of Wooster; H. W. Dirkson of Cleveland; and Rev. W. F. Rothenberger and Dr. W. W. Bustard of the same city.

In speaking of Dr. Reichel the Independence (Iowa), Bulletin-Journal said in a late issue:

“Rev. Geo. V. Reichel, Ph.D., of Columbus, O., legislative and field secretary of the American Civic Reform Union, conducted three services in Independence churches on Sunday before large audiences. He spoke on the awful white slave problem and the great danger that the insidious pest is to the moral welfare of our country. Dr. Reichel treated the subject in the way it should be treated. He called a spade a spade, did not mince matters and had figures and facts and statistics to back up every statement he made. The union he represents is a national federation of church and civic societies and in its directorate are many distinguished laymen and denominational leaders. Its object is to fight white slavery and make it unsafe for moral perverts to engage in the dastardly traffic.”

The Sentinel, of Carlisle, Pa., said recently: “Dr. Reichel is regarded as an expert on civic reform problems and his addresses have deeply stirred all who have heard them at Erie, Meadville, Titusville, DuBois, Clearfield, Middleton and other points in this state.”

less to attempt another heat as it was finished but 20 minutes before sundown, the official end of a racing day.

In this event, Pearl Carter, Charlie Roush's roan mare and Frank Annanias, a bay gelding, entered by I. C. McKay, Fayette City, Pa., had each claimed two heats. The performance of the Pennsylvania horse was probably better than that of the mare as he finished second in the first two heats, while Roush's mare, in the two heats, she failed to win, came in trailing the field. It was apparent, however, that Roush was laying back to have the event finished when his mare had been given a good night's rest, in the hope that a better track would give him a better show to win the final heat and the race.

It was difficult work for the starter. Two of the events, the twenty-four pace and the twenty-seven trot had big fields, each one having more than ten entries. With the soft track, the footing was uncertain and the horses had trouble in getting away on their stride. In spite of this fact, however, most of the get-aways were good and in several of them, the field was bunched closely together from the wire.

In the first event, the 2:24 pace, Riley O'Connor had no trouble in winning in straight heats and had no competitor for first money. Two Newark horses, Baby Lane and Nancy O'Connor, finished within the money. Colville's mare getting two-thirds and a fourth, taking the small end of the purse. Wilford Jones' Nancy O'Connor got third money when she paced a good mile in the last heat and was a close second to the winner. Black Beauty, one of the entries was drawn after the second heat. This horse had finished in tenth position twice.

Henry Higgins, a bay horse entered by Harry Fleming of Washington, Pa., was an easy winner in the 2:27 trot. By getting second place in two heats, Early Doa was given second money and Title Belle, a Columbus horse, got third. Aura Bell, driven by Amos Grove of Newark, came in for fourth money.

The Thursday program was scheduled to start at 12:30 o'clock with

Make This and Try It for Coughs

This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounce of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than was could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualiac and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan.

Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COMPLAIN OF EDICT ISSUED BY SUPREME LODGE

There are a large number of the members of the Independent Order of Foresters in Newark who have a very loud complaint to make regarding a recent edict issued by the supreme officers located in Canada. This order came in the form of a statement to the effect that certain old members of the order, were indebted to the court for sums ranging from $200 to $600.

Judging from the statement of the members, the demand for this large sum of money may result in those so charged dropping from the order. It also may result in a request to the state insurance commissioner to investigate the matter with a view of offering some sort of protection to those who have carried insurance in the order.

According to information furnished the Advocate, these members who received the statements were advised that they could pay the amount in a lump sum or allow it to stand as a lien against the amount of the insurance policy carried. In the latter event the member would be expected to pay interest annually and when the policy was paid at death, the amount of the charge against the member would be deducted from the face of the policy. If the interest is not paid, it will be compounded and added to the original amount and in a few years, in many cases, it would soon reach the total amount of the face of the policy.

None of the members seem to know why this amount is charged against them. They state that their assessments have been paid promptly and that the order claims to have a big surplus.

The supreme officers were formerly located in New Jersey but later removed to Canada.

MANAGEMENT OF A GREAT CITY IS ILLUSTRATED

CITIZENS TAUGHT HOW AFFAIRS OF WIDE AWAKE TOWN ARE ADMINISTERED.

Cincinnati's Budget Show Oct. 1-15 —Residents of Ohio Are Invited to Attend.

The citizens of Cincinnati are taking their annual course of instruction in “Municipal Needs and Expenditures,” and when the lesson is completed, on October 15, every man, woman and child in the Queen City will know just what the city has done with its money during the past year, what it is doing now, and what it proposes to do in the immediate future. This “course of instruction” is being administered by means of a Municipal Budget Exhibit, which opened on Wednesday, October 1, in the new Union Central Life Insurance Building, and will be continued for a period of fifteen days.

The basis of the Municipal Budget Exhibit is a desire on the part of the general public to know how municipal funds are being applied. In the old days the citizen who desired to know anything about the operation of the various city departments was compelled to wade through millions and millions of figures, statements, suggestions and promises, and if he survived the ordeal, was in doubt as to whether the statistics and general data given in the printed reports were founded on facts or were mere imaginings, designed to help out a political movement of some kind.

All that is changed now. The citizens of every wide-awake community in the land are not satisfied with statistics. They have imbibed largely of the Elxir of Missouri, and want something more than the other fellow's word that certain things have been done, are being done, or ought to be done at certain prices. So they demand to be shown, and the Municipal Budget Exhibit is the result.

This year's Cincinnati Municipal Budget Exhibit is a model of its kind. It is arranged by departments, and every department has fairly outdone itself in its efforts to show the public, in a simple, graphic and interesting manner, just what that department is doing, what it has done and what it desires to do. Not only do these departments show what is being done, but they also show how it is being done, so that no citizen need be ignorant of just how every wheel of the city government machinery turns, and how it fits into the cogs of all the other machinery.

Perhaps no display in the entire exhibit more fully shows the manner in which the Budget idea works than that of the Department of Efficiency. Here, in the first place, are shown a series of money bags, representing the amount of taxes paid for city government, for county offices, for state levy and for the support of schools. Appended are other bags showing how much was paid out for these purposes in previous years and how much is needed for the coming year. Then follows a series of small tableaux, depicting the activities of the city government during every hour of the day, beginning at 5 o'clock in the morning, when the milk man delivers the daily bottle of city-inspected milk, until midnight, when the city sleeps, guarded by the police, fire and street lighting departments.

Another interesting and enlightening feature is the exhibit of the Department of Corrections and Charities. This includes, among others, the Refuge Home, whose name implies rather dire condition. But a walk through this exhibit causes a complete change of sentiment. Surely the boys and girls who have wrought the various examples of industrial products shown in this display—who are responsible for the husbandry, art work, domestic science achievements and other features of manual training and vocational development, can not be delinquents, unambitious or vicious. And to see the youngsters who have done these things, one is further convinced that they are healthy, vigorous and clean young Americans—and the Budget Exhibit, therefore, becomes responsible for setting right another misapprehension under which the general public was laboring.

Under old conditions, the word, “Health Department,” conveyed an idea of a number of men, sitting around, uncompanied by moly books, phials and crucibles, discussing sanitation and hygiene, and waiting for some one to bring in a culprit who had violated one of the laws of the city regarding the public health. The Budget Exhibit shows this Health Department in all its activities—inspecting milk, condemning impure food, cleaning up dirty neighborhoods, eliminating disease-breeding corners, making homes sanitary.

And so one goes through the entire exhibit, learning at every hand how every city department is conducted. Nor must it be thought that this exhibit is entirely for Cincinnatians. In its way it is as instructive to the taxpayer of Hamilton, or Dayton, or Co-shocton, or Mayville, as it is to the taxpayer of the Queen City, for it gives both a specific and a general idea of the conduct of a city government.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Several of Granville's progressive citizens will meet in the Municipal building Friday evening for the purpose of nominating an independent ticket for mayor and council.

The Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi and Kappa Sigma fraternities entertained with dinner parties last evening.

S. Howard Rugg and John A. Ward were in Newark on business Wednesday.

The following officers were elected by the senior class Wednesday: President, George Curtin of Clarksburg, W. Va.; vice president, Harriet Hunt of Granville; secretary, Lillis Price of Morgan Park, Ill.; treasurer, W. W. Masteller of Mt. Vernon, O., and Lester Black of Newark, class poet.

The faculty of Denison university has proclaimed today a legal holiday for the school in order that the Freshmen and Sophomores may satisfy themselves as to which is the better class. There has been a great deal of enmity displayed between the classes, which will clash in a hand-to-hand combat today.

IRON TRADE REVIEW.

(Associated Press Telegrams)

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—The Iron Trade Review today says:

The opening of the fourth quarter finds some departments of the iron and steel trade rapidly approaching what appears to be the end of a remarkable period of intense activity, extending over approximately 18 months, during which time plants have been driven at maximum capacity to meet insistent demands of consumers. September—expected to be featured by a heavy buying movement—has been a disappointment in that consumers have continued to show hesitancy in covering future needs. Final passage of the new tariff law is not expected to immediately affect business one way or the other, but the probability of advanced freight rates in the East undoubtedly will create a demand for ear material and railway equipment. Prices of some products have been fairly well maintained and manufacturers are hopeful that better conditions soon will be enjoyed.

COLUMBUS ELKS ARE ENJOYING BIG CLAM BAKE

Columbus, Oct. 2.—Fifteen hundred Elks are enjoying a clam bake here today. Among the invited guests are Governor Cox of Ohio, Governor Hatfield of West Virginia, and Governor Tener of Pennsylvania. Grand Exalted Ruler Leach of New York, Grand Secretary Fred Robinson of Iowa, Grand Treasurer White of Chicago, and Gerry Hermann of Cincinnati. John Sipple of Gloucester, N. J., has been in charge of the “bake” and has been on the ground since last Saturday.

The guests, 1,500, were seated under a large tent erected by the Columbus Tent and Awning company. Over 500 were seated at the second table, including waiters and all other help.

Here is what the Elks consumed: 35,000 little neck clams, 20,000 shell oysters, 1500 pounds of bluefish, 1500 lobsters, 3000 ears of Michigan sweet corn, 15 bushels of sweet potatoes, 15 bushels of Irish potatoes, and 1,000 Rocky Ford melons.

Among those who were expected to address the congress were: John N. Carlisle, chairman of the New York Commission on Highways; J. M. Newark Company Gets Columbus Contract

The Newark Electrical company does not believe in simply doing what is handed over the counter, but is constantly on the lookout for new business either in Newark or surrounding cities. This company was the successful bidder on the new Ed Doe store for Columbus. The bid covers dismantling and removing the large electrical sign here and installing in its new location, as well as wiring and completely equipping the big store with 100 Watt Mazda lights, each operating as a separate unit.

Mr. Doe will have one of the most modern and up to date stores in the state.

The Newark Electrical company also just closed a four cornered fight for the wiring of a palatial residence in Granville and has started the electrical work. If you are contemplating building a home or wiring your present house you will do well to consult these enterprising young business men.

ticular attention are those from the manual training and domestic science departments of the public schools, made under direction of W. E. Painter, head of the department. A striking feature of this display, practically all made by high school boys from 14 to 15 years of age, is a cabinet for storing light hardware, which is used in the manual training shop at the high school building

In West Main Street. This cabinet contains 40 drawers, each made by one boy. The cabinet was designed and the exterior finishing put on by Director Painter, but the bulk of the work is that of students. Besides, there are library tables, sewing tables, foot stools, a davenport, umbrella rack, and a two-drawer cabinet for business files. Several small upholstered cushions made in the department are displayed. The large cushion on the davenport was made by Kemper Scott. Director Painter explained that the cushions of that size are not made in the manual training school.

With this exhibit is a display of a dozen cans of fruit, prepared and canned this year by girls in the domestic science department of the public schools, under direction of Miss Lulu Billman, an O. S. U. graduate who has been placed in charge of the domestic science school here. The display includes peaches, pears, tomatoes and grapes. There are also several cans of jelly.

Up to Thursday noon there were 45 exhibitors represented in the "Made in Newark" show. Many of these are producers of several different products or brands, so that it is safe to estimate that in the neighborhood of 200 different articles, all made in Newark, are on display.

SIDE LIGHTS.

In one of the Erman drug store windows may be seen a large picture of the Newark subway as it is to appear when finished. The picture is a colorfully labeled "To Be Made in Newark."

Additions were made this morning to the already excellent display of the Read Wire Cloth Works. Various grades, sizes and colors of wire cloth are shown from a mesh that will fly water to a size that a bird can fly through. Every sample in America uses Newark made wire cloth. Few people seem to know much about this product and for that reason the display is attracting great attention. One of the attractions of the "Made in Newark" show is that of Anheuser Brothers in the Annex, which is filled with Holbechean redactors and little. The display was arranged by Messrs. Jenkins and Kayser of the Newark Redactor company. It is very artistic, the redactors being arranged on white ground and under each is a marble slab from 20 to 500 Watts. The window at night is a blaze of light.

Bader Brothers, who are operating the chair factory that was conducted by the late Walter Scott, have a nice display of Newark made chairs in the Annex. They are using the window of the corner room that is soon to be the office of the New Arcade Hotel. This office is to be fitted up with marble and tile and each of the second and third story rooms will be equipped with bath, telephone service, etc.

winners. The pictures are those of Newark people taken 25 years ago. Norton's store was packed yesterday afternoon and evening. The big window attraction was the "doll" while on the inside thousands of ice cream cones filled with Licking Creamery company's ice cream were given away to children and grown folks alike. One little girl was heard to say: "This is the first 5 cent cone I ever had," and she got it for nothing.

Vogelmeier bricks are among the recent additions to the show. Many thought the Vogelmeiers made only rough building brick but the samples on exhibition correct that impression very quickly.

While McNamara and Schneider traction engines are not shown it should be remembered that these two well known machine shops have long been doing business in Newark and they are the same old stands.

Everywhere respect is expressed over the absence of a complete display from the Wehrle foundry. Newark's big West Side factory, where over 1,000 men are employed. This factory has been across under roof. The capacity is a stove a minute and a big size line is the manufacture of all sizes of fire proof safes and kitchen utensils. Samples of the Wehrle stoves are shown in the exhibit, but it should be remembered that the Wehrle company, whose importance to Newark can not be overestimated, makes a great variety of stoves and ranges, office safes, and kitchen utensils. The Wehrle plant is not only the largest of its kind in the world but it is perhaps the most modern.

SENATE DEMOCRATS UNITED IN STAND ON TARIFF MEASURE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Oct. 2.—Democratic support for the conference report on the tariff appeared to be united when the senate today began the final consideration of the Democratic revenue measure. The all-day caucus of yesterday which had thrashed out the differences within party ranks and brought about unanimous support of the conference report, led Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee to hope that there would be little delay in securing final action on the bill. Republican senators had not disclosed the extent of their proposed criticism of the conference agreement when the day's work began in the senate, but it was expected that Senators LaFollette, Penrose and others would speak at some length.

CORONER HOLDS INQUEST IN THE REXROAT CASE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Oct. 2.—Interest in the mysterious murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat centered today in West Chicago, where the inquest over the victim's body was resumed by Coroner William V. Hopf. Meanwhile a dozen Chicago detectives searched for "Ar. Spencer," who is said to have accompanied Mrs. Rexroat to Wayne, Ill., the night she was shot to death and her body placed on the tracks of a railroad.

STATE LICENSE COM. HITS PROBLEM IN "DOUBLE BAR" PLAN

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Oct. 2.—Can a man maintain two bars in different rooms connected by an arch with a single license? This question is puzzling the state license commission. It was brought to the attention of the commission by several county commissioners at the conferences held here today. Attorney General Hogan will be asked for an opinion on the question.

Another question which must be solved is whether an application made by a man who later dies may be transferred to the man's estate. Brewers of Butler county and several counties in the northwest part of the state are responding well to the law that they must not own fixtures in saloons, according to reports brought in by county commissioners. In these counties, brewers brought their cancelled chattel mortgages held formerly on fixtures to show county commissioners as proof they had complied with the law. This brought praise from the state commissioners.

YOUNG MILLIONAIRE IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT ON GIRL

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Oct. 2.—Hermann Oelrichs, the young millionaire, whom Lucille Singleton charged with having stabbed her while in an automobile Tuesday night, who was arraigned in police court today and held in $10,000 bail for a hearing on Tuesday next. The case was postponed because of the absence of the complainant. She was still in bed today.

New York, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, widow of the late Herman Oelrichs, who amassed a fortune of millions from steamship lines, early today saved her son Herman from spending the entire night in a police station, by giving his bond for $5,000, giving her $100,000 residence as security. Young Oelrichs, a student in the Columbia law school, was arrested late last night on a charge of felonious assault after Lucille Singleton, who says she is 19 years old, and daughter of a Texas mine owner, had filed the charges. She had told a story of a mysterious automobile accident on Broadway Tuesday night. The girl alleged that Oelrichs, who was then known to her as "Billy Creighton" had stabbed her while she was riding in the young millionaire's car.

Oelrichs was arrested while visiting the apartments at which Miss Singleton was living. He was arrested and locked up in the Mulberry street police station at which the south's mother appeared shortly afterward and produced the required bail. Young Oelrichs was released under instructions to be in the Jefferson Market court for arraignment today and he and his mother drove away in a taxicab.
Miss Singleton told the police that she was riding with the man she then knew as Creighton, when a quarrel arose because she admitted she had an engagement with another man. Thereupon she alleges "Creighton" let go of his steering wheel and stabbed her several times with some sort of an automobile tool.
Miss Mary Chambers, principal of the Darlington seminary at Westchester, Pa., where the Singleton girl says she attended school, was quoted here today as having said over the long distance telephone:
"There was a Miss Lucille Singleton here about three years ago. She was a pupil for about a year and a half, and registered from Dallas, Texas. I met her father once when he came to the seminary with his daughter.
"Mr. Singleton said that he was a miner. Miss Singleton returned to the seminary, but remained only three or four months, leaving in April or May. She was well thought of in the seminary. She was very quiet and one of the most studious pupils we had at the time. We do not know anything about her family and since she left the seminary we have not heard from her. Her registered address was in care of Edward Singleton, 1404 Wood street, Dallas."
